In addition, each driver should have a valid driving licence and vehicle insurance. Without this equipment the crews will not be allowed on the rally route.

Vehicles taking part in the Rally travel on public roads, therefore each participant is obliged to obey the traffic rules. The Organiser does not provide insurance for participants or their property and is not responsible for any damage to persons or property. Each participant waives all rights to compensation, which may arise in connection with an accident, while driving on public roads and during the mountain race.

IDENTIFICATION OF CREW AND VEHICLE

Each crew member receives a rally participant badge. This badge entitles you to enter the rooms reserved for the event and gives you the right to drinks and meals organised on the route. For the above reasons it is necessary to have the badge with you for the duration of the event.

Each vehicle has a starting number assigned by the organizer - two stickers on both sides of the vehicle. The crew is obliged to have the vehicle so marked for the entire duration of the race.
